The Seventh Sunday of Easter

Reading I: Acts 1: 12-14

Having witnessed Jesus' Ascension, the remaining Apostles, now minus Judas, gather for support and prayer in the Upper Room, anticipating the coming of the Holy Spirit.

Reading II: I Peter 4: 13-16

Facing persecution realistically, the author urges the Christian community to be proud of any suffering they endure for Christ.

The Gospel: John 17: 1-11a

In His great prayer, Jesus acknowledges that His work has been completed, and now "the hour has come" for Him to return to His Father.

Week of May 21, 2023 - The Seventh Sunday of Easter

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson

No matter what effort we may make to soften it, “good byes” are never easy. This is especially so either for people for whom our love goes way back in time, or for those people we have learned to love more recently.” Any depiction of farewells in books, plays or movies can turn on the tears despite our best attempt to be stoic about it.

St. Luke lets us in on such a scene involving Our Lord Jesus and His Apostles in today’s Gospel reading. The closeness generated over the past three years has not been easy, but it has solidified enough to make the separation painful.

But for Jesus it is also a process. His first step is to pray aloud in their company what we have come to call “His great prayer.” He asks His heavenly Father to keep “His side of the bargain,” if you will. Jesus has indeed been obedient, having humbly joined the human family through life in a woman’s womb; followed by a simple birth in a Bethlehem stable. Later He submitted to hatred and torture, winding up hanging on a Roman cross atop the hill of Calvary.

That tragedy turned out to include a triumph, unique in the annals of human history, with His glorious resurrection “on the Third Day.” It was proof positive that all His lofty claims about Himself were true. He reviews them now for His listeners with the conviction that “now is the time”. He calls it “His Hour.” Yet He makes it the occasion to make a promise of His prayers for His faithful followers. That includes us.

Obviously we do not have the privileges of His Apostles and disciples. We do not know what Jesus looked like, although efforts have been made by artists, some basing their portraits on the Shroud of Turin. We certainly do not know the sound of His voice as He prayed that bittersweet day. We trust that will all be taken care of on the other side of death’s door.

Meanwhile, we do see Him with the eyes of faith present completely in the Holy Eucharist. We have His holy Presence among us under the appearances of bread and wine. That means we have the same post-Pentecostal privilege of the Apostles. Like them, we now have the obligation to be Christ’s missionary spokespersons, each in our own way. How we do it all depends on humility and faith.

I began this piece thinking about goodbyes. But sometimes human pride steps in, and we can miss the chance to make our goodbyes teachable moments. Consider this story.

It seems a priest, a Boy Scout and a computer expert were the only passengers on a small plane. The pilot came back to the cabin and said that the plane was going down but there were only three parachutes and four people. The pilot added, “I should have one of the parachutes because I have a wife and three small children.” So he took one and jumped.

The computer whiz said “I should have one of the parachutes because I am the smartest man in the world and everyone needs me.” So he took one and jumped.

The priest turned to the Boy Scout and with a sad smile said “You are young and I have lived a rich full life, so you take the remaining parachute, and I’ll go down with the plane.” The Boy Scout replied, “Relax, Father, the smartest man in the world just picked up my knapsack and jumped out!”
