REFLECTION

by Leonard N. Peterson

Our spiritual lives could well be described as the placing of “mind over matter.” The matter is our activity, such as the plans we make, or the career we pursue. But over and above all that is our purpose. What, in short, is our goal?

An earthbound example of action and goal would be that of the two teams in a “Super Bowl” such as we watched two months ago in the company of millions. Every play that each team made was aimed at the goal of being world champions of football.

We too should be involved in the pursuit of a goal. If not, we are in danger of having no reason to get up in the morning, and that would be tragic in itself. Our goal as Catholics is our eternal salvation. That places us squarely in a competition not of our own making. That between good and evil. Both sides want us and pull at us for their triumph over our souls. This struggle is “super” in the sense that it is “above” all else in the human project.

The resurrection of Christ our Savior clearly presents us with the goal of sharing in His victory over sin and death. In His struggle with all that afflicts us in human life we find mirrored our own. But since we live in Christ and He lives in us, we have our own victory guaranteed unless we cave in to sin. Unless we change our purpose to some earthbound goal that has nothing to do with God and everything to do with our decision about what is worthwhile.

Christ’s love of us is so inviting. So powerful an antidote to that “upside down” kind of thinking that our life is all about us instead of all about God and our relationship with Him. Prayer and the sacraments, especially that of the Holy Eucharist, help us to maintain “right side up” thinking. And deep peace.

There is a story from the Middle Ages about a young woman who was expelled from heaven. As she left, she was told that if she would bring back the gift that is most valued by God, she would be welcomed back. She brought back drops of blood from a dying patriot. She brought back some coins that a destitute widow had given to the poor. She brought back a remnant of a Bible that had been used for years by an eminent preacher. She brought back many similar things but was turned back repeatedly.

One day she saw a small boy playing by a fountain. A man rode up on horseback and dismounted to take a drink. The man saw the child and suddenly remembered his boyhood innocence. Then, looking in the fountain and seeing the reflection of his hardened face, he realized what he had done with his life. And tears of repentance welled up in his eyes and began to trickle down his cheeks. The young woman took one of those tears back to heaven and was received with joy and love.

God love you and give you His Easter peace.

Saint Bernadette Soubirous April 16

Bernadette was born to a poor miller in the town of Lourdes in southern France. She was the oldest of nine children. Despite her poor health and lack of education, she was described as a faithful and virtuous girl.

In 1858 at age 14, Bernadette, her sister, and a friend were gathering firewood near a cave above the banks of the Gave River. A “petito damizelo” (small young lady) appeared to her, clad in blue and white, carrying a rosary of ivory and gold, with yellow roses at her feet. Bernadette’s companions could not see her, but Bernadette fell to her knees, took out her own rosary and began to pray.

Over the next few weeks, Bernadette continued to have visions of the woman, a total of sixteen in all. When asked her name, the woman responded, “I am the Immaculate Conception.” During one of the visits, Our Lady instructed Bernadette to dig in the grotto and a spring of clean water rose up from the ground. She told the young girl she desired a chapel to be built on the spot. Miracles would be performed here to turn people’s hearts to God.

The town was divided in their opinions of the truth of Bernadette’s visions. Despite their doubt and ridicule, she persevered in her devotion to the Holy Virgin’s words to her. After much scrutiny, the Church verified her visions. A chapel was built as Our Lady requested. The spring continues to provide 27,000 gallons of water a day, and over the years the Church has verified 70 miracles in its healing waters.

Bernadette attracted much attention for her part in the story of Our Lady of Lourdes. She was hounded by media and curious believers until she took the religious habit and joined the Sisters of Charity in 1866. People continued to admire her humility and spirit of sacrifice. Once a nun asked her if she had temptations of pride because she was favored by the Blessed Mother. “How can I?” she answered quickly. “The Blessed Virgin chose me only because I was the most ignorant.”

Sister Bernadette continued to be plagued with poor health and received last rites three times. She passed away at age 35 on April 16, 1879. Thirty years later, her body was exhumed and despite her rosary being oxidized, her body was found to be incorrupt. She was canonized by Pope Pius XI in 1933. She is the patroness of illness, people ridiculed for their piety, poverty, shepherds, and Lourdes.
